Parkdale Radium represents a fine combination of breeding. His sire, Radium, has made an enviable record in the show ring and is proving his ability to reproduce his kind, and his dam belongs to the Scotch Queen of Beauty tribe, which has been bred for years with unerring success. Parkdale Radium is what may be expected from this line of breeding. He is a rare individual that has inherited the vital points of the ideal Shorthorn.

Parkdale Standard is one of the good bulls of the breed, and is out of a dam that has produced more high-priced calves in the past five years than any cow in the herd. This bull has been selected by good judges as the best calf she has raised, though in 1913 her calf topped our sale. He combines substance, quality and size with Shorthorn character. He should sire thick-fleshed, early maturing calves that are so much in demand.
